Hanlon FSC Newsletter October 2022

Hope everyone had a great semester so far and a successful midterm week. For the remainder of the fall semester gear yourself for some exciting news- we at Hanlon wanted to share some updates.

Hanlon Podcast Series – ‘Trends with benefits’

'Trends with benefits' is a podcast series hosted by Hanlon Laboratories in which we reach to professors and finance professionals and get their candid opinions on the latest issues and trends in the financial industry.

-In this first episode, we talk through the basic topics of the stock market, e.g., stock ticker, bear market, bull market, stock portfolio etc.

-We also discuss the resources that Stevens as an university offers to its students to enhance their trading skills.

-Further, we discuss historical databases offered by the Hanlon labs such as Bloomberg, Refinitiv, Thomson-Reuters and more data.

There are two parts to the first episode-

Episode 1 Part 1

Episode 1 Part 2
